MASONIC CIRCUS AND HORSE SHOW

The stage and rings are all set for the big Masonic Circus and Horse Show to be held at Bassett's Field, Medford street. Next Monday morning a crew of a hundred men will begin the erection of the big tents to house this big enterprise and Arlington folks will realize then what a big undertaking the Masons have attempted. There is to be spread out on the big field about four acres of canvas which will soon develop into a tented city. No pains or expense has been spared to make this one of the biggest events of the season.

One of the many features is the clown band composed of Arlington musicians. This act alone is well worth the price of admission. Men who toil daily at desks will prance about like two-year-olds playing pranks on one another which are bound to draw laughs galore from the audience. The Zouavs, a snappy drill squad, is as pretty a number as ever given by any tented organization, and the trapeze work way up in the air is as good as seen in any professional show.

Parking space has been arranged for that will accommodate a thousand autos, they have a regular police and fire department and everything that is needed to make complete arrangements.

A special added feature for the children's Saturday matinee, will be the grand display of Boy Scoutship and the presentation of medals by Brig. General Wilson B. Burr, Chief of Staff, 5th Army Corp., A. E. F.

BOY SCOUT RALLY

The final general assembly of the year of the Boy Scouts of Arlington for presentation of merit badges, will be held June 24 in connection with the Circus and Horse Show exhibiting on Bassett's Field on Medford street, near Mystic river. Gen. Edwards was not able to attend personally, but he has detailed Gen. Wilson B. Burr to act in his stead as inspecting officer.

Scouts will assemble on the Arlington Athletic Field at 2.15 in the afternoon, where they will receive instructions from superior officers, and will march from this field to the Circus Grounds at 2.45. The program arranged for this interesting occasion is as follows:—

Opening Exercises—Salute to Flag
Colors—Scout Oath
Inspection by Brig. Gen. William B. Burr
Presentation of Badges
Parade and Passing in Review
Bugle Call and Retreat

General Supervisor Lt. Harold L. Frost informs us that over one hundred merit badges will be distributed and incidentally remarked, "never have the boys worked so enthusiastically and intelligently as during the past few months." Let all who can encourage the Scouts by attending this meeting and witnessing the exercises.

HANCOCK-ADAMS WEDDING

A large concourse of friends of the contracting couple and their parents, assembled in the First Parish Unitarian church, Arlington, on Wednesday evening to witness the marriage of Frances Louise, only daughter and child of Mr. and Mrs. Thurber C. Adams of 20 Bartlett avenue, Arlington, to Mr. Grenville Laing Hancock, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Hancock, of Fargo, North Dakota.

The church was fragrant with quantities of cedar trees used in the decoration which was chiefly in the form of the church. Small trees concealed the pulpit platform and others in graded size were placed against the back of the pulpit, so that it was a veritable cedar forest, the trees continuing to the two corners at the front of the church. Trees were also placed in the balcony at the rear of the church and in the vestibule. On the platform were high Grecian pedestals with Grecian jardiniere, filled with tangerine colored gladioli with a centerpiece of Easter lilies.

The ceremony was at eight o'clock and previous to it, Mr. Benjamin Whelpley, organist of the Arlington Street Unitarian church of Boston, where the bride has been a recent member of the church choir, rendered a beautiful musical program and played the Lohengrin and Mendelssohn wedding marches, the former heralding the coming of the bride party. Rev. Frederic Gill, D. D., minister of the church, performed the single ring service, the bride being given away by her father, with whom she entered the church.

A more fascinating picture would be hard to imagine than that made by the bride and her attendants. All but the bride were in organdie frocks over pink and each wore a garland of old-fashioned flowers, fashioned from the organdie. Small clusters of the flowers were worn on the shoulders and at the top of the hem were bow knots of the organdie, a different color on each, selected to harmonize with the frock. All but the maid of honor carried French baskets filled with the old-fashioned flowers.

The bride was gowned in ivory white satin trimmed with crystal beads, and fashioned with the drapery effect that added richness to the toilette. The veil was of Duchess lace and fell over the court train that was confined at the back of the hair with orange blossoms. The bouquet was of lilies of the valley and white orchids.

Miss Mary Jane Wells of Washington, was the maid of honor. Her frock was of the blue organdie over pink and bow knots in the tangerine shade of organdie. She carried tangerine colored gladioli, swansonia and larkspur.

The attendants were Mrs. Robert C. Putnam of Belmont, who was in the tangerine organdie; Miss Priscilla Bradford Soule of Cambridge, in yellow; Miss Harriet Webber of Holyoke, in violet; Mrs. Benard O. Gerish, in green; Miss Helen T. Doty in rose, and Miss Ruth Scully of Brockton, in pink. All wore the silver slippers and stocks and in the hair an old-fashioned tortoise shell comb, the latter the gift of the bride.

Mr. Henry M. Blank of Glenridge, N. J., was the best man. The ushers were Mr. L. Sherman Adams of Wellesley, Mr. William M. Ferris, Jr., of Newton, Mr. Robert Cate Putnam of Belmont, Mr. Bernard Otis Gerrish of Wellesley Hills, Mr. Abram Waldo French of Newton, Mr. Philip E. Hurlburt of Exeter, N. H.

Following the ceremony there was a reception at the Winchester Country Club in Winchester. The parents of the couple assisted in receiving, the reception being in the ball room of the club house which was elaborately decorated with the cedar trees, immense laurel wreaths combined with gladioli and festoons of the laurel. The beautiful wedding gifts were displayed at the Adams residence.

A full wedding supper was served by an out-of-town caterer and Johnson's orchestra played throughout the evening and for the dancing which was a part of the wedding festivities.

The bride is an accomplished musician, especially of the voice which is of splendid timber. She is a graduate of Guild and Evans school of Boston. Mr. Hancock was a member of the class of 1918, Massachusetts Institute of Technology, which he left in 1917 to enter the air service of the U. S. Army, completing his service as officer in charge of flying at Post Field, Fort Sill, Oklahoma. He is at present located in Boston, being connected with the brokerage firm of L. Sherman Adams.

After an extended trip through the west, Mr. Hancock and his bride will be at home in September at 3 Concord Hall, Cambridge.

RESPOND QUICKLY

As stated in last week's Advocate, a petition is being circulated by the Arlington Board of Trade in opposition to the use of the Tappan Farm by the Boston Elevated for the storage of cars and the erection of an inspection shop. The organization for securing these signatures has been very carefully worked out. The chairman of each precinct in the town has charge of appointing teams and superintending the canvass in his precinct. With one or two exceptions they have all accepted this task with enthusiasm. Each canvasser has been assigned a definite section of the town and has been provided with a complete list of the persons residing in that section.

Each canvasser is held responsible for the sheets placed in his hands and will make reports to his captain. Only residents of Arlington eighteen years of age and over are privileged to sign. This work must be done very quickly and it is hoped that the residents will assist the canvassers in every possible way to secure an adequate expression of opinion.

A VICTORY FOR JAMES A. BAILEY

The bill to reorganize the Metropolitan District Commission and to equalize the powers of the members of that board, was defeated in the Senate Thursday, June 8th, without debate, by a vote of 4 to 1. This measure was aimed at James A. Bailey of Arlington, the chairman of the commission. Its proponents claimed that he had been arbitrary. None of them, however, had changed him with inefficiency. The House had passed the bill, but his friends in the Senate overwhelmingly defeated it.

Mr. Bailey has been a member of the Metropolitan District Commission some twenty-five years. He became a member when the commission was known as the Metropolitan Water Commission and by his office put through the taking of two or three towns in the Nashua River Valley near Clinton, for the great reservoir now supplying the water for the Metropolitan district. A few years ago Mr. Bailey was made chairman of the Metropolitan District Commission.

There has been a project for the building of a great reservoir near the Connecticut River, which Mr. Bailey has contended, would not be needed until 1935 and so was being opposed by Mr. Bailey. Because of his attitude a bill had been presented to the Ways and Means committee of the House of Representatives calling for the reorganization of his department.

SEVERE HAIL STORM

It is more than thirty years since this section was visited with such a severe hail storm as that of last Sunday afternoon, which broke with all its fury about four o'clock in the afternoon. Distant rumblings and increased cloudiness and blackness gave warning that there was great disorder in the elements, but Arlington was not prepared for the unusual occurrence with which it was visited. The rain descended in torrents, the wind blew a gale, and then all of a sudden there were heard beating against the windows and roofs a sound as if great rocks were being hurled against them. On looking out one discovered, scattered about the lawns and streets, hail stones in many shapes and sizes.

This did not last long and after the storm had spent itself, many ventured out to pick up the hail stones. A dish full were gathered at the home of the editor of the Advocate. Each was a different size and shape. Some measured six inches in circumference. One was shaped like a wild rose with its petals clearly defined. Another was round like a doughnut. The outer part was of snow ice and the centre of solid ice with a distinctive figure in the centre. Another was like a ball, larger than a golf ball made of small balls and frozen into one mass. There were others as large as a small hen's egg.

There were many panes of glass broken throughout the town, but not in the quantity as one would be led to suppose with the fierceness of the wind and the largeness of the hail stones. The senior editor of the Advocate remembers when Arlington had a much more severe hail storm, when nearly all the lights in the green houses were broken and one could shovel up the hail stones, such were the abundance of them.

The streets were flooded and ran rivers soon after the deluge struck here. The streets in the Heights section were badly washed out and gangs of men were set at work by Supt. George E. Ahern at putting them in passable condition and placing red lanterns on the dangerous places. One of these especially bad was on Mill street. Here the water rushed down from the avenue in such quantities that there was a regular land slide near the old building at the corner of Mill and Central streets, which is being torn down, known as the Cutter mill.

The tender plants on some of the farms were beaten down and many injured, also some of the panes of glass in greenhouses.

Many sections of the town were washed out by the rain which kept up for over an hour. In fact, after the first storm passed, it was followed by another when the lightning flashed incessantly and the wind blew a gale. The lightning, however, was at a distance and there was reported no serious effects from that. There was but little lightning compared with some other storms that have visited Arlington.

Many autoists were caught in the storm and the garage men were kept busy towing in disabled cars until well into the evening. It was not an uncommon sight to see machines stopped along the highways, out of commission, the occupants waiting for the storm to abate so help could be sent for. One resident of this town left his machine standing in front of his home. He heard a crash during the storm and later discovered that the muffler, the entire length, and his radiator had been ruined. A bolt of lightning evidently took a sideswipe at the car and put it in shape for a repair shop. After the storm cleared away, the air was clear and bracing and there was a beautiful sunset, marking another one of New England's changeable days.

ARLINGTON WINS OVER LEXINGTON—DEFEATED BY WINCHESTER

The High school baseball team surely has had its ups and downs this season. On Thursday of last week the team defeated, and it was with a relish, their next door neighbors, Lexington High, shutting them out by a ten to nothing score. The game was played on Spy Pond Field. The Arlington boys showed up well and from the start had the game won. Moakley, the pitcher for Lexington, lasted two innings and had enough to satisfy him that Arlington could easily hit the ball he was serving up. He was replaced by Bevington who stuck out the rest of the game. In this game the Arlington boys fattened up their batting average, especially O'Neill, who hit out four times out of four times at the bat. Capt. Kechejian and Fall each got three hits out of five times at the bat. In all the team got thirteen good safe hits, Lexington getting but four. Only once was Arlington in danger of being scored on, the Lexington boys getting a man on third base and a hit would have scored him. The Lexington boys played a losing game from the start and at times acted as if they were disheartened, judging from some of the remarks passed from one player to another. Scanlon, the Arlington regular catcher was replaced by Reilly in the last of the game and Scanlon went to right field where in the eighth inning he made a sensational catch of a hard hit fly ball that went to the race track. A very good double play was worked by Kechejian, Canniff and Lane, in some very fast work. This game marked the second time this season that Arlington lacked a defeat onto the Lexington boys, but the Lexington boys reminded them of the football games and the coming season. The summary of this game is as follows:—

GOOD BALL GAME

The High school baseball team gave Woburn High, last year's championship team, a close rub in the game here on Monday afternoon in the Mystic Valley League series. The game ended five to three in favor of Woburn, but it was not won without a hard fight on the part of the visiting team. In the eighth inning Arlington took on a rally and also in the ninth and had two men on bases with but one man out in the last inning. Here Woburn tightened up and was able to hold Arlington scoreless for the inning. Woburn got its start in the first inning, when after several misplays on the part of the Arlington boys, they scored three runs. Tanton figuring in a home run in this inning and batting in two runners. Then Arlington played better ball, but the damage was done and they could not overcome the lead. Bob Fall was in the box for the Arlington team and pitched a fine game, holding this hard hitting team to seven hits. His teammates stood behind him well after the opening inning. O'Neil in left field had plenty to do. A very high wind was blowing all through the game and practically all the balls batted into the air were wafted toward the left garden. O'Neil caught six long high flies none of which were easy to field on account of the manner in which the wind blew them. Capt. Kechejian, Canniff and Lane figured in a very snappy double play at a critical time. The Woburn team is probably the best team in the league and against this team Arlington made its best showing of any game played here in the league series. The score by innings:—

Innings	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9	R	H	E
Arlington	0	0	0	0	1	0	0	2	—	3	6	2

STOP THEM? NO!

The boys are working! And when a group of red blooded American boys start to work for a cause, that is worthy, what can stop them before their goal is reached? In all Arlington there is no place for the boy of 18 to 21, except the street corner, in the evening or Sunday afternoon. He goes swimming in Spy Pond, you know the condition of the water there. No place for a good, clean shower after he comes out. No place to dress or undress, except the shore of the pond. If he wants to attend a gym he has to go to Cambridge or Boston to do it. He wants to meet his pal to spend the evening, where can he meet him except the street corner? It is all wrong! The Boy Scout movement which has answered the question, so well for the boy of 12 to 18, and proved its worth to the entire world, in better boyhood, cannot hold them after 18 years of age, except as Scoutmasters, they have arrived at the age where they think they are men, and if properly trained they are. And yet how many have been lost to the ranks of true citizenship between the ages of 18 to 21, just for the lack of a right word at the right time and a place to go, where he would meet the right company. M. V. O. B. is trying to provide both of those for all boys between 18 and 21. It is a big undertaking for a group of young men to raise a mile of dimes. Most of them have been members for three years and realize what it has meant to them, even in their old quarters. They want their younger brothers and friends, the boys in their troop of scouts (for many of them are troop leaders), to have a better place, a gym, shower baths, a place for lectures and entertainments and all that makes for physical and mental development.

Every member is attempting to collect 250 feet of dimes. Do you realize how much time and effort that means? Ask any member if he thinks it is worth while? Do the men and women of Arlington think it is worth while? Ask Mr. Harold Frost, Scout Commissioner of Arlington, what he thinks of M. V. O. B.? Ask Mr. Charles Higgins, Selectman, what he thinks of them and their work among the boys? Maj. N. R. Willard is preparing the plans for their club house, absolutely free of charge, and helping them raise the mile of dimes. Does he think it worth while? They need Your Help! You can give at least 1-16 of a foot, 1 dime. Will you do it? A check mailed today to Harold N. Anderson, treasurer, 112 Grove street, will not only prove your interest in better boyhood, but will repay you in years to come. Give the boys a lift! Thank you, I knew you would.

THE STATE CONTROL ISSUE

From Boston Daily Herald

The long contest in the Legislature over the question whether the state shall or shall not have a voice in the treatment of law-breakers, came to an end yesterday afternoon when the House of Representatives, by a large majority, determined that when a court of the state has convicted a minor offender and imposed a penalty upon him, it shall have nothing more to do with him. The penalty imposed by a state court, for the violation of a state law, shall be inflicted by the county authorities.

The action of the House was unwise. The bill was a reasonable one. It did not satisfy the extremists of the state control advocates, but it recognized the sound fundamental principle that those who control the infliction of punishment of violators of state laws, convicted by state courts, should do so as agents of the state, and not by virtue of holding offices of its minor political subdivisions.

The rejection of the bill was a political mistake. The Republican party, seeing the evils of the existing system and the drift of public sentiment, pledged itself to its reform. It has repudiated its pledge, which is a bad thing for a political party to do. The worst feature of this repudiation is that it was done at the bidding of county commissioners, practically all of whom are Republicans, who banded themselves together in a complete organization, hired experienced counsel and lobbied against it, with all their immense political power.

MRS. JENNEY DECEASED

Funeral services for Mrs. Harriet Laurena (Gleason) Jenney, wife of Nelson W. Jenney of East Lexington, were held last Friday afternoon, in her late home, at 226 Mass. avenue, East Lexington. The Rev. Frank Randall Gale, minister of the Follen Unitarian church, officiated. Burial was in the Forest Hills Cemetery.

Mrs. Jenney was a life-long resident of Lexington, having been born here in May, 1843, the third of four children of William and Charlotte (Brown) Gleason. Her father was a first lieutenant in the First Sharpshooters during the Civil War and her great grandfather on the maternal side, Francis Brown, was a soldier of the Revolutionary War. He was one of Captain John Parker's company of Minute Men in the battle of Lexington, April 19, 1775. When the British were returning from Concord, they were met again by Captain Parker's company in Lincoln, where Francis Brown received a very severe wound. A ball entered his cheek, passed under his ear, and lodged in the back part of his neck. It was extracted the following year. Notwithstanding this severe experience, he was the commander of the Lexington company in 1776. He was a member of the Committee of Correspondence for the town, and afterwards served as selectman and town treasurer.

She married January 1, 1866, Nelson W. Jenney of Waltham. To her husband, who is left to mourn her loss, she was a most devoted wife, and to him is extended the heartfelt sympathy of friends in this town where she was well known.

to the measure, it would have been different; but there was none. From beginning to end of the campaign it came solely from the county commissioners and their friends. The public, so far as it showed its interest, was for it. The commissioners made a mistake.

Because state control is right in principle, the contest will continue. Its friends have secured more progress in the last two years than in the preceding twenty. It will come someday, not far hence. The women, who have no entangling alliances with county politicians, naturally favor it, and will have a large influence in bringing about the reform, and the indifferent men will in time become interested.

TABULATING RESULTS

Recently in Congress, William J. Graham of the 14th Illinois District, ended an address in defense of the present administration with a summary of what he had claimed as worthy accomplishment. The list follows:—

We passed a new law and reduced the burden of taxes upon the people by $819,000,000 a year.

We found the Liberty bonds selling for 85 cents on the dollar.

We brought them to par.

We found an army of 230,000 men.

We have reduced it to 135,000.

We found a navy of 133,765.

We have reduced it to 96,000.

We found total appropriations for 1920 of $7,348,259,415.37.

We reduced it in 1922 to $3,909,782,209.46.

We found 640,175 civil employees.

We reduced them in one year by 71,849.

We found the doors of our country open to the trade and cheap labor of the world.

We closed them by temporary tariffs and will regulate them by a scientifically adjusted tariff law.

MY COUNTRY'S FLAG

In a finely worded proclamation, big with true patriotic sentiment, Gov. Cox invited all to note the fact that June 14 was the anniversary of the adoption of "Old Glory," as the stars and stripes is often named, as this nation's emblem. We of this generation do well to make all that is possible of any date of thing that inculcates patriotism, — that sentiment which made our nation, which alone can preserve it to be worthily handed to those who are to follow.

When one considers that the birth rate in the metropolis of the nation among those who are native born has dropped to seven to the one thousand, while among foreign born it totals sixty-seven, the magnitude of the task of Americanizing these newcomers appears. What it will mean a few years hence if they are not brought heartily into sympathy with the ideas of the founders of this government, the figures named clearly foreshadow. This is now a government of toleration and good will, — of equal opportunity. Let us so keep it.

FLAG DAY OBSERVED ARLINGTON LODGE, B. P. O. ELKS

Hon. E. Mark Sullivan, past exalted ruler of Boston Lodge of Elks, was the orator at the flag day exercises held Wednesday evening in Robbins Memorial Town Hall under the auspices of Arlington Lodge, B. P. O. Elks. Preliminary to the public meeting there was a session in G. A. R. Hall during which the exalted ruler, Dr. William E. Denvir, was presented with a fully equipped traveling bag. Ives Band led the line that marched to the hall, each carrying an American flag. At the hall flags were distributed to the audience.

The full Elks flag day ritual was presented by the officers of the lodge. Patriotic selections were given by the band. Besides the introductory exercises by the exalted ruler and the officers, Miss J. Marion Monroe sang "Columbia, the Gem of the Ocean" and responded to an encore. H. Wesley Curtis, esteemed leading knight of the lodge, gave an apprehensive history of the flag, carefully prepared and presented in a clear and distinct manner. The altar service was conducted by Esquire James E. Doughty and the officers of the lodge. Miss Mary A. Kuhn of Arlington sang two selections.

The speaker of the evening told of the great things that had been accomplished under our flag and what it stands for. The program was most inspiring as given.

LONGFELLOW CHAPTER EASTERN STAR ENTERTAINS

Children's Day was observed by the members of Longfellow Chapter Order of the Eastern Star, Tuesday afternoon in Odd Fellows Hall. It was a gala occasion for the young folks and the program was an exceptionally interesting and pleasing one. The committee, of which Mrs. Charles Ryder was chairman, worked out the program in such a manner that the children were entertained from the minute they arrived until late in the afternoon. During the afternoon Miss Miriam Hendrick of this town gave readings; and there were some clever sketches and dance numbers by Phyllis Mollison, and Clare Riley who did solo and duet numbers much in the entertainment of the party. Rosemarie Riley gave readings and solo dances and Betty Alden presented a flag dance. Mr. C. Everett Wallace entertained with tricks of ventriloquism.

One pleasing feature of the party was a flag drill in which every child present took part. In observance of flag day each child was presented with an American flag which was carried during the drill. Mrs. Carl Patrinquin led the line and was followed by about 100 children, who went through many figures in splendid style. In the banquet hall the children found a collation that surely delighted them. The table was made to look inviting by the use of red, white and blue paper napkins and there was a flag placed in each small cake for child. The children made a wonderful picture seated about the tables and a movie of the group would have made a picture most fascinating to see.

FLAG DAY EXERCISES

The depleted membership of Post 36, G. A. R., made it impossible to have comrades in all the public schools on May 29, when in compliance with the law, exercises appropriate to Memorial Day were held. Russell and Parmenter schools were the two skipped. As a compensation on Flag Day, and by arrangement of Mrs. Ada A. Purman, patriotic instructor of Corps 43, Woman's Relief Corps, Past Dept. Com. Alfred H. Knowles, Past Com. George H. Averill and Patriotic Instructor C. S. Parker were guests at these schools. Wednesday afternoon and listened with great pleasure to the programs presented by pupils of the several grades of Russell school, Mrs. Edith W. Emerson, the principal, having charge. The following is the full program:

Sub Primary Class Exercise.
(a) The First Flag.
(b) Tell Me, Who Can?
(c) Song, "Our Country."

Address by Mrs. Ada A. Purman and comrades of Post 36.
Grade VI.

The program at the Parmenter school was similar in many respects, though not as elaborate, but it was a fine tribute to efficiency of teachers and intelligence of pupils as was the case at Russell school.

"AT HOME" OF MR. AND MRS. MULLER

Mr. and Mrs. William A. Muller, whose marriage occurred April 20, issued between five and six hundred invitations for an "at home" Wednesday evening from eight until ten o'clock at their residence, 231 Mass. avenue, Arlington. The spacious grounds and the extensive alterations and enlargement of the home which have just been completed, were none too ample to accommodate the friends who were present, representing, as they did, the large coterie of friends of both Mr. and Mrs. Muller in the business, social, civic and church life of Boston, Arlington and cities in the Metropolitan district.

The large living room and the sun parlor, as well as the reception room and hall, were given a most inviting and hospitable appearance, which has always been the atmosphere of this home, by the effective arrangement of flowers both from the Muller gardens and from Beasley's flower shop which had the decorations in charge. There was an effective grouping of palms where Mr. and Mrs. Muller received, which was in the living room. It was informal in every way for it was the gathering together for the most part, of long-time friends. Mrs. Muller received in her wedding gown of white crepe de chine and Spanish lace.

The beauty of the gardens and the grounds was enhanced by the most artistic arrangement of quantities of Japanese lanterns, the standards for which were cleverly devised by Miss Helen Hill, Mrs. Frederick and Irving Hill and Mrs. Frank H. Abbey. The American flag had a conspicuous place in the summer house at the end of the rose garden which is approached under a long arbor of trailing vines and roses. The miniature fish pond concealed by tiny cedar trees, was a beauty spot enjoyed by the guests before the gathering shadows of the night folded its silent curtain over all, but even then it was an enchanting picture as the mystic glow of the Japanese lanterns shed a light most entrancing over the garden and the handsomely gowned guests who wandered about it. There were small tables placed about the grounds where refreshments were served. A full supper was served in the dining room by an out of town caterer and in the reception room Miss Olive Doe's orchestra played throughout the evening.

LEXINGTON SCHOOL BOY DROWNED AT RIVER-HURST

During the annual graduation class picnic of the Munroe school last Saturday at Riverhurst in Billerica, a most regrettable accident occurred. While in a rowboat with three of his classmates, Thomas J. Welch, Jr., fell into the Concord river and was drowned before adult rescuers could reach him. Unfortunately he could not swim. He was the son of Thomas Welch, who has recently removed his family to 180 Summer street, Arlington. Besides his parents he is survived by two sisters, Dorothy and Rita, and an infant brother.

Thomas had remained in the Munroe school to graduate this week with his class. He was one of the most popular boys, being president of the Munroe School Government Association. He played on both the football and baseball teams of the past school year, and had been elected treasurer of his class. At the funeral Tuesday morning in St. Agnes church the class attended, accompanied by the principal, Miss Mary C. Lusk, and one of the teachers, Miss Julia B. Smith. The following classmates acted as pall-bearers: John Sweeney, Robert Murray, William Andrews, Walter Hrones, John Mossman, Onel Deffice and Curlys Slocum.

Thomas Welch was a fine type of American school boy. Not only did he stand in the first quarter of his class in scholarship, but he was a real leader in out-of-school activities. A very wholesome and friendly co-operation between his parents and his teachers had been established largely because the boy had sought to have it so. He was proud of his home and of his school; his loss is keenly felt by both. The example of his unselfish life will always be remembered by those who knew him.

—That the local police can be on the job within a very short-time was shown on Thursday evening of last week when an emergency call for police came in from the east end of the town. In less than three minutes after receiving the call, Patrolman Mahoney, who was on his night off and who happened to be at the station at the time, was in the house where the call came from. In less than five minutes four officers were at the house and the matter peaceably arranged. Another instance that the police is on the job was on Wednesday evening when a citizen saw an automobile pass to the left of an electric car near Lowell street. The automobile was moving at a rapid rate and narrowly missed hitting a man who came from behind the electric car. The citizen caught the number, telephoned to Lieut. Hooley, also the owner of the machine who lives in Lowell, was soon located and will appear in local court to answer to at least two charges of violation of traffic laws.

Chats with Your Gas Man

No matter how much gas you burn, you cannot raise the temperature of water on your gas range above 212 degrees Fahrenheit, or boiling point. Therefore, once the pot starts to boil on the range, reduce the flame. This effects a saving.

Also remember that it takes no more gas to cook twelve potatoes than it does to cook six. Plan to have whole boiled or mashed potatoes the first day and creamed potatoes the second. Creamed potatoes are made from left-over cold boiled potatoes cut into cubes and reheated in a white sauce.

Again, plan your baking so as to get the most possible use out of the oven. When roasting a piece of meat, scrub, wipe dry and grease some potatoes. Place these in the oven on a pan and bake. When done cut them in half lengthwise, scoop out the white portion and mix it with milk, butter and seasoning. Then pack it back into the shells, place in the broiler and toast until browned.

CROCKETT-COLE WEDDING

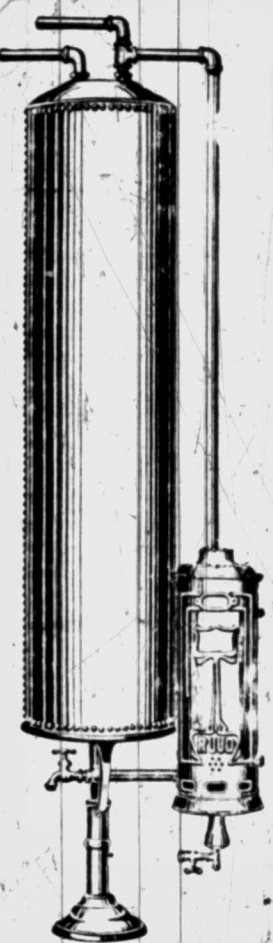

A college wedding, which was of great interest to a wide circle of friends in Everett, Medford, Arlington and the White Mountains, took place Wednesday evening, June 14, at eight o'clock, when Ruth Jeanette Cole, daughter of Mrs. Winifred Carlton Cole of 119 Grant avenue, Medford, was married to Rev. David Crockett, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward S. Crockett of 15 Wachusett avenue, Arlington Heights.

The ceremony which was the double ring service, took place in Goddard Chapel, Tufts College, and was performed by Rev. Lee S. McCollister of the Crane Theological School of Tufts College. The chapel was decorated with palms and baskets of cut flowers arranged in a semi-circle and forming an attractive background for the bridal party. Mr. Joseph Black of Indiana, was organist and rendered the Lohengrin and Mendelssohn wedding marches. The ushers were Mr. Samuel Cole of Maplewood, cousin of the bride; Mr. Charles Kepner and Mr. Bernard Root of Andover Theological Seminary. Mr. Roy Hill of Dartmouth College, and Mr. Lester Shirley of Arlington.

The bride made a lovely appearance, in her gown of white Canton crepe and lace made with the long bridal train and trimmed with orange blossoms and pearls. The wedding veil of tulle was held in place with a wreath of orange blossoms. She wore the groom's gift, a bracelet set with diamonds and carried a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley and white roses. She was attended by two bridesmaids and a flower girl. The bridesmaids were her sister, Miss Lura Cole, Radcliffe, 1918, and the groom's sister, Miss Priscilla Crockett, a graduate of the N. E. Conservatory of Music. Their gowns were of rose pink chiffon with gold trimmings and they carried pink roses. Edna Crockett, sister of the groom was flower girl, and she wore a dainty frock of white, flowered taffeta trimmed with rose petals and carried an ornamental basket filled with rose petals. Mr. Sherman Crockett, brother of the groom, was best man. The attendants, including the ushers and organist, received gold remembrances.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at Packard Hall, Tufts College, which was also decorated with palms and cut flowers. This was attended by almost three hundred guests. A stringed orchestra under the direction of Mr. Harry Tinkham of Arlington Heights furnished the music during the reception.

The bridal party was assisted in receiving by Mrs. Cole and Mr. and Mrs. Crockett, parents of the bride.

WOMAN'S AID ASSOCIATION ANNUAL MEETING

The annual meeting of the Woman's Aid Association of Symmes Arlington Hospital was held Friday afternoon, June 9th, at the Nurses home on hospital hill. The president, Mrs. Herbert W. Reed, presided over the business and gave the word of welcome, speaking of the loyal of members on the board during the year, which had been a successful one in every way in spite of depression in business, which naturally would affect the receipts of the association. This year the sustaining membership receipts have amounted to $4,000 which is a little smaller than last year. The contributions from the churches amounted to $530.98.

The report of the treasurer showed that the association has spent $2,830.81 for the hospital and that there is a balance of $1,398.21. This includes the Free bed fund and the commissary department, the first having a balance of $434.50 and the latter $52.89. Other reports were read from the different chairmen, all of which were most satisfactory and showed the association to be in an active and healthy condition. The president reminded all of the annual dues which now are in order to be paid and which are $1.00.

The new directors were elected at this meeting. They are Mrs. Maude Barker and Mrs. M. E. Stevens. The other directors and list of officers will be the same as last year and are as follows: President, Mrs. H. W. Reed; vice-president, Mrs. James A. Bailey; second vice-president, Mrs. William F. Homer; recording secretary, Mrs. Frank D. Sawyer; corresponding secretary, Mrs. H. B. Turner; treasurer, Mrs. E. Southwick; auditor, Mrs. G. Elmer Allen. Directors for three years besides those already mentioned, Mrs. Rufus Blake, Mrs. Phillip Hendrick, Mrs. Herbert A. Snow, Miss Lena Lenk, Mrs. E. R. Barker.

Miss Lenk presented unusually fine talent by way of entertainment and a program of rare merit was thoroughly enjoyed by those present. It consisted of piano solos by Abbie Hesselstine who played most charmingly; violin solos by Stella Marek Cushing who always gives pleasure, accompanied by Alice Lenk; contralto solos by Clara Leavitt of Boston, who has a phenomenal voice and sings with great beauty. At the conclusion of this, trapeze and fancy cakes were served from a prettily decorated table in the class room, peonies being used as the centerpiece, and at which Mrs. Reed and Mrs. Sawyer presented.

and groom. Mrs. Cole's gown was of black Canton crepe embroidered in black, trimmed with white satin, and she wore pearls and sweet peas. Mrs. Crockett wore beige charmeuse with overdress of Spanish lace. Miss Katherine Pike and Miss Elizabeth Hall of Fryeburg, Me., distributed the boxes of wedding cake.

The bride was born in Conway, N. H., and is a graduate of Everett High school and Tufts College, 1919. She has always been prominent in the work of the Congregational church, having held the offices of president of the C. E. Society of Everett Congregational church and vice-president of Everett and Malden C. E. Union. She was engaged two years in the profession of teacher and in 1921 resigned as teacher in the Haverhill High school.

The groom was born in Medford and was educated in the public schools of Medford and Arlington, being graduated from Arlington High school and Tufts College, 1919. He is a member of American Legion Post 39, and Hiram Lodge of Masons in Arlington. On May 23, he was ordained and installed as minister of the Sayles Memorial church, Saylesville, R. I., and on June 13 was graduated from Andover Theological Seminary.

After a wedding journey of two weeks, Mr. and Mrs. Crockett will reside in Saylesville, R. I.

CHILDREN'S DAY ARLINGTON CHURCHES

Sunday was a disappointment in point of weather for Children's Day exercises in many of the Protestant churches, but in spite of this there were large audiences at all the churches where special services were held. At each there were more or less elaborate decorations with the use of field daisies, peonies, syringa, and potted geraniums and other flowers. These latter were distributed to pupils at the Calvary Methodist church, the Orthodox Congregational church and Park Avenue Congregational church.

At the Orthodox Congregational church the exercises were given by the Primary and Junior departments of the school. The Cradle roll, however, had its part in the service of which Mrs. Stanley Cook is the superintendent. Parents presented their little ones to be christened and this was one of the beautiful parts in the service. The children ranged from a few months old to three years and were as follows:—Ralph Woodbury Day, Alice Emily Hatch, Caroline Louise Lacey, Patricia Clark Marden, Priscilla Denton Simmons, Mortimer Hall Wells, Richard Leighton Hanson, Marjorie Estelle Munroe, Barbara Frost Eames, Vera Louise Jenkinson, Marcia Elizabeth Lowcock, Winthrop Bowman Pratt, Rollin Medwin Steele, Lois Garner Whitman.

Previous to this Mrs. Herbert W. Reed, the soprano of the church quartet, sang the solo, "Suffer Little Children," composed by Mr. Mark S. Dickey, the organist of the First Baptist church. It is a composition with much merit and has an accompaniment that adds much to the beauty of the composition. The exercises by the Primary department were in charge of its superintendent, Mrs. Frank Savage. It consisted in a demonstration of home work done by the children who are becoming familiar with the Bible and memorizing familiar hymns. This was followed by the distribution of Bibles and diplomas to graduates who were as follows:—Harry O. Austin, Ellsworth Norwood, William R. Rupert, John Adams, Edwin Brainerd, Marjorie Lowcock, Pauline Snow, Adelaide Olive, Virginia Cox, Louise Kimball.

A similar exercise was carried out by the Junior department under the direction of its superintendent, Miss Helen Hadley. Then came the distribution of diplomas to the graduating class which, strange to say, was all boys. The names that have one star are boys who had not been absent for fifteen Sundays. Those with two stars are individuals who did extra memory work at home. The list of graduates follows:—Richard Barnard, Paul Cameron, Charles Currier, Donald Dodge, Roger Gammons, Raymond Harrington, John Marsh, John Rugg, Richard Snow, Everett Stretton, Thomas Whittaker. Interspersed between these exercises, were selections by the quartets and at the close of the exercises, the pastor, Mr. Patch, gave a brief talk emphasizing the need of co-operation of the church members with the work of the Sunday school.

At Calvary Methodist church at seven thirty in the evening, a pageant, entitled "The Rights of the Child," was given before a large audience. The committee in charge was Mr. C. E. Dockrill, chairman; Miss Marianne Morris, Miss Alice Wallace and Rev. A. J. Strait. Miss Hilda Linfield was organist and the mixed quartet, Miss Marianne Morris, soprano; Mrs. A. J. Strait, contralto; Mr. Charles E. Dockrill, tenor; Mr. Carl Nelson, baritone; furnished the music incidental to the pageant, "Home Sweet Home," "Keep the Home Fires Burning," "Love's Old Sweet Song," "Jesus, Tender Shepherd, Lead Us," "For the Beauty of the Earth," "O Come All Ye Faithful," "It Came Upon the Midnight Clear," "Jesus Christ is Risen Today," "Jerusalem the Golden," "America the Beautiful." Calvary church, Troop IV, of Boy Scouts, took part in the pageant, typifying "Young America" and carrying the American flag. The cast of characters follow:—Family of five, father, Mr. Eugene Freeman; mother, Miss Lillian Hoyt; children, June Christensen, Phyllis Nelson, Allen Nelson; Spirit of Religious Education, Miss Ruth Edwards; interlocutor, Miss Marianne Morris; six evil spirits, arch destroyers of homes, Miss Anae Gass; spirit of neglect, Miss Laura Ziegler; spirit of falsehood, Miss Edith Thomas; spirit of temper, Miss Hazel Wadman; spirit of cruelty, Miss Irene Gray; spirit of selfishness, Miss Gladys McPhail; Herald, George Lyons, Elmer Ziegler; spirit of child welfare, Mrs. Milton Estabrook; spirit of education, Rev. The exercises at Park Avenue Congregational church were in charge of Mrs. O. A. Schuetzner and Mrs. H. H. Stinson. A vested choir of children under the direction of Mrs. Harvey D. Bodwell, provided the musical part of the service in a manner which delighted the audience. The program given was as follows:—Processional, twenty-four girls; alternate readings from the scriptures by the boys and girls; anthem, "Lord thy children guard and keep," Maunders, with Helen Stinson, soloist; children's sermon, "We Love His Name," Marjorie Manning; Baptism of children, Robert Alden and Floyd Rumney, Jr.; sons of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd R. The decorations were a quantity of daisies and buttercups sent by the McKinnon family of Winchester, who formerly belonged to the Sunday school. Scripture reading and prayer by the pastor, Rev. A. E. There was a simple but interesting exercise given at the First Parish (Unitarian) church, in connection with the morning service. This included a greeting by Margaret Bailey followed by exercises by the Kindergarten class, Miss Helen Dow teacher, that consisted of a song, a recitation by Donald Hartford and an exercise entitled, "Secrets," by Ethel Chamberlain, Horace Homer, Louis Turner, Cynthia Webb, Edgar Webb. Pupils in Miss Katherine Holway's class gave an effective exercise and the CXXI Psalm was recited by Marjorie Turner and Ruberta Bailey. Carol Foster followed by the recitation "The Child's Appeal," the recitations closing by one from Josephine Hooker, entitled "Trees."

Children's Day was observed at the First Baptist church between the hours of twelve and one. An interesting program was arranged under the supervision of the Sunday school superintendent, Mr. Carl Aisen and this committee, Mrs. R. J. Hunt, Mrs. Arthur Stevens, Mrs. B. P. Wells, Mrs. H. C. Davies, Mrs. L. E. A. Smith, Miss Caroline Higgins, Miss Ruth Chamberlain. The usual opening exercises at the Universalist church were followed by exercises by the kindergarten and primary departments. The latter closed with a missionary service, when the little bags filled by the children with money from their own earnings were collected and presented to the pastor of the church, Rev. W. H. Gould, by Marjorie McCann, to be sent to children of other lands. Original papers were read covering the work of the year by pupils of Miss Elizabeth Yerrinton's class; the story of the Good Samaritan was told in his own words by Harold McCann, a pupil of Miss Jennie Frost's class; two of the stories learned by Miss Edith Winn's class were written and read by pupils. The story of Esther dramatized by Mrs. Stella Marek Cushing was given by pupils from the classes of Mrs. L. W. Collins and Miss Harriet Holt. The cast of characters was King Ahasuerus, Herbert Harwood; Haman, Ernest Hesseltine; messenger, Homer Collins; the two chamberlains, Paul Widder, George Dowdell; Queen Esther, Marion Robbins; Mordecai, the Jew, Frank Russell. The prologue was read by Marcia Tuttle. Awards were given for perfect attendance from October 1 to June 10, to twelve pupils who received books or pins according to preference. Graduation exercises were then held with certificates given to eight pupils graduating from the kindergarten to the primary and to nine pupils graduating from the primary to the Junior department. The christening of babies closed the exercises.

The Sunday school of the Church of Our Saviour, attended the eleven o'clock service, last Sunday, Trinity Sunday. The children marched into church following the choir. It was a long procession as this school is constantly growing and the church was filled to capacity. Mr. Bixby read the following honor roll:—Those who have not missed a Sunday during the year, Ruth Button, Charles Connell, Winifred Connell, Evangeline Connell. Those absent only once, James Crosby, Virginia Hunt, Marjorie Hodgson, Nannette Mitchell, George Button, Ethel Hamilton, William Connell, Robert Frery, Francis Traverse, George Traverse, Emily Rowntree. In addition, Ralph West, and Evelyn Messenger, only missed once after starting. In his sermon, Mr. Bixby showed how the belief in the Trinity is not simply a theoretical dogma but is of the greatest practical importance in our lives.

At the Heights Methodist church the morning service was for the children of the cradle roll department especially and their mothers. Forty members attended and to each was given a white rose. Four infants were baptized, Helen Lucille Mullin, Edward Martin, Robert Brown, Jr., Barbara Hazel Thurston. In the evening a pretty program was given under the direction of Mrs. Rosetta LePage, assisted by Miss Dorothy Quimby. The little pageant, "June Time," was given by the following children, each in costume. The Spirit of Summer, Ruby Fowler; flowers in the garden, butterfly, Virginia Pomeroy; pansy, Phyllis Brown; rose, Marjorie Williams; daisy, Helen Coffin; sunbeams, Elsie Lantz, Julia Smith, Jeanette Smith, Ruth Reimer. "Daisies" was another little pageant in which Erna Cross told the story of a field of daisies, while thirty or forty of the boys and girls in the primary department, dressed in white, went through the various motions. A pantomime, "The Evening Prayer," the words and music of which were written by Mrs. LePage was enacted by Lois Craig and Clara Hamilton, while the girls of Miss Rolfe's and Miss Brown's classes, sang the song, "Seasons," an exercise and drill was given by girls in the Junior department from Miss Smith's class. This exercise closed with the girls forming a cross and crown, singing the song, "Keep Smiling." The pageants and pantomimes were written by Mrs. LePage. A recitation, "Lady June," was given in costume by Marjorie Williams; "My flower friends," in costume by Marion Smith; a song, "Come little children," arranged to the Barcarolle from the Tales of Hoffman by the Primary department. At the close of the service each child of the Primary department received a potted plant.

MEDITATION

Is the world ready for the universal practice of goodwill? Hitherto between nations and often between individuals an antagonistic will has controlled. Since Cain struck down Abel the master in human affairs has been the strongest or most alert man. Unquestionably force in some form has rushed goodwill up to this present time, and not even yet are we free from the drawn sword.

Though peoples are fearfully sick of war, and are discovering that force, club force, never settles any disagreement, and that conquest by might never holds against a growing intelligence, yet they are not ready to trust goodwill.

Perhaps goodwill cannot be trusted. Nations often use honored words but build up their fighting power. Much has been done to discount force of late by cutting down armies and sending battleships to the scrap heap, and yet nations rely as a last resort, upon the unsheathed sword rather than upon the goodwill of the spirit. Yet it would seem that this brutal method of settling a dispute should give place to sweeter reason, and that men might reach a decision through the intellect and in obedience to the right. Instead, even in 1922, nations combine against each other so as to keep the balance of power on the level, as near as possible. Yet may we not expect that goodwill will win the day, and that nations will be too far from the brute age to fight for the mastery.

One hundred and forty-seven years ago England sent her army up Bunker Hill to crush the Continentals entrenched there, and at fearful cost of life she took the hill but lost her cause. She not only fought against an alienated people, but she defied the Almighty's decree. Her doom was sure, although she did not see it. The deplorable outcome was, she begot the enmity of her daughter. The feeling in America against England became bitter and wrathful.

The war of 1812, which grew out of England's arbitrary and insolent assumption, intensified and strengthened this alienation, so that years afterwards it was almost a disgrace to be known as an Englishman. And just as this feeling was dying down, the attitude of the English government in our great struggle for national wholeness, to prevent disunion, so enraged, even Lincoln, that he said, he would fight England except we had a tremendous civil war on hand.

Yet, fortunately, this bitter antagonism has almost died out. A war between England and the United States is almost, if not, quite impossible. It would be an unforgivable disgrace, a repudiation of Christianity. Never again, let us hope, will Englishmen draw the sword against each other. And may not the day be near when the old feud between Ireland and England will be forgotten—and that fortunate island will blossom as the rose, in its new freedom, and in its great riches, and in its gifts to the whole world.

Foeds die hard, and old disagreements are handed down long after their originators are forgotten. Yet surely England has paid double for all her sins toward Ireland, and Ireland has not been faultless, nor have her sons and daughters been saints. Though she has been unjustly dealt with, she has been relentless in her revolt. An Irishman enjoys a fight, though his weapon may be a black thorn shillalah. Notwithstanding deep distrust of each other among the nations and pessimism among the people are there signs of growing goodwill? May we anticipate peace instead of war?

Unquestionably mind and heart play a larger part in human affairs than they once did. Questions in dispute are carried up to the court of reason now, while once they were trampled down under the feet of armies. Any nation, ignoring the judgment of the world, would seal its doom, for public sentiment is stronger than armies and navies. The sword is not mightier than the sober judgment of mankind, although force is relentless. Yet goodwill, more or less altruistic, has leavened vast numbers in all lands and it must be reckoned with in the settlement of national and international questions.

Another transformation has been going on in the race of great significance for the future of mankind—namely—equalization. Neither men nor women are born equal in endowments and therefore in possible attainments; and yet the inequality is not so great as is sometimes assumed. Few, if any, men or women tower above their fellow beings like mountains out of a plain. There are no supermen, though some men believe themselves such. There are no born rulers, though some may win that distinction by worth and industry. Much harm has been done by segregating people into classes, and putting one class above the other. The greatest man in the world is servant of all. Jesus has settled this beyond dispute—and yet people thirst for recognition, though it may not be of any more value than tissue paper. Were the fictitious values attached to some men and women disowned, not a few of the disagreements of the world would never be heard of. The serf and the master, the plebeian and the patrician, the aristocrat and the proletariat, the employed and the employer, are not nearly so far apart as is sometimes imagined. Any how the leveling process is going on, and on the whole the movement is wholesome, and this makes for goodwill.

It has been said that many of the disastrous disagreements between employed and employers are due more to attitude than to the questions in dispute. Men resent assumption of superiority and insulting language, since it cuts like a razor. One may bite his tongue and say nothing, but he will not soon forget. Many of the gulfs between classes have been bridged by the phenomenal benevolence within fifty years. Billions upon billions have been freely given to feed the starving, to clothe the naked, to care for the sick, to help the improvident, to free the oppressed, and to make known the message of a good God to a needy world. ed peoples, now they bind them. Once India was almost as far away as Mars, now we can talk with Calcutta in the twinkling of an eye. Once a cry of distress in Russia would have died out long before crossing the Atlantic, now we cannot shut it out from our homes any more than air or sunlight. The whole world is brought within hearing, if not feeling distance, and thoughtfulness and sympathy flow from soul to soul as a mighty river, in great streams of benevolence. Is it possible that all this can come about without creating goodwill? Are these millions, who have been blessed by benevolence going to sting like a serpent and bite like an adder?

Yet more influential in bringing in the age of goodwill than benevolence, are the political changes among the nations. The enfranchising of men and women—especially women—by the million is sure to give us a new world. The use of power is a great educator, and a great leveler of mankind. On election day people are equal, however it may be the day after. Some fear that this power in the hands of the masses will be the undoing of nations, and that instead of going from strength to strength they will hasten to ruin and ignominy. Yet, unless the masses can be trusted, unless there is native virtue enough in the people to stand the strain of the ballot, then the sooner they can sink beneath the quick sands the better.

Now what may we expect in the way of goodwill from the enfranchisement of women? Millions of them are in public life as never before. That they have been excluded so long is no credit to men. And that they will use their new power like angels is too much to expect. Yet we may anticipate woman's contribution to public life will be along the line of her womanhood. If, in her the spiritual elements are most pronounced, if she hates war and loves peace, if she would rather be on terms of goodwill than dislike, if she would rather see the earth transformed into paradise than into Tophet, if she would prefer clothes for her children and food in the pantry to open saloons and a drunken husband, if she would prefer education to ignorance, the protection of children against the greed of money lovers, wholesome rule against subversive officials, and churches that fearlessly sound the demand for righteousness, then of course she will show it by her vote. What women need to be saved from is the unscrupulous politicians—not from party, for a wholesome nation will be ruled by parties, but from the prostitution of her womanly gifts to the degradation, if not undoing, of the social order.

Hitherto woman has been almost supreme in the schools, and in churches in the large majority, and dictators of social life, and directly or indirectly makers of community life, and she may be counted upon to spend her resources in the interest of a world of goodwill. On the whole the outlook is not so disheartening.

JOHN G. TAYLOR

ST. AGNES LAWN PARTY

The annual lawn party in aid of the building fund of St. Agnes church was held on the Convent grounds on last Saturday and proved, in spite of the unfavorable weather, a success beyond all expectations. Previous to the lawn party the various committees, made up of ladies of the parish, under the direction of Mrs. Owen J. Cain, Mrs. Martin Hines and Miss Margaret McConnell, had held various forms of entertainment for the general fund and all these added much to the final receipts of the day. The committee was a very large one and these ladies are deserving of a great amount of credit for their work.

During the afternoon and evening the grounds were filled with old and young, enjoying the many attractions. All the booths and side shows were well patronized, the men taking charge of the side shows for the evening. The pastor, Rev. Matthew J. Flaherty and his two assistants, Rev. Joseph J. Leonard and Rev. Donald F. Simpson, took active part in making the affair a success.

The tables from which were sold fancy articles, tonics, candy and the various attractions usually found at an affair of the kind, were prettily decorated. Table one, which represented District One, had a combination of morning glories and blue birds; table two, representing District Two, in the national colors, red, white and blue, and table three, representing District Three, a Japanese table, ornamented with cherry blossoms, and illuminated with Japanese lanterns.

The grounds made an ideal place for the holding of the affair and the proceeds will go toward the fund which is being raised by the parish, for the erection of a parish school on the grounds adjoining the convent. It is expected that the affair will eclipse any previous one of its kind, that the parish has ever held.

The chairman of the three districts follow together with the names of those on each committee.

District 1—Mrs. O. J. Cain, chairman; Misses Katherine Walsh, Annie Ahern, Mary McCarthy, Clara Riley, Agnes Wynn, Sara Albert, Josephine Lane, Lena Quinn, Helen McGovern, Elizabeth Hines, Katherine Regan, Agnes Ahern, Connie Corrigan, Misses Katherine Barry, John Sisk, J. Murphy, John Dacey, John Mahoney, Daniel Hickey, John McCarthy, John O'Brien, Dornington, Caley, Campbell, Daniel O'Brien, Dornington, Caley, Messrs. Martin Hines, Thomas Good, Wm. Powers, Daniel Grannan, Joseph Chisholm.

District 2—Miss Margaret McConnell, chairman; Misses Katherine Walsh, Ellen Sweeney, Marie Long, David Helen Tobin, Anna Toland, Misses Edna Ryan, Donovan, Dolores Brine, J. O'Brien, Sampson; Messrs. Edw. Ryan, John Ryan, Edw. Crowe, John Byrne, Frank Mahar, Daly, John Hendrick.

The centerpiece was a glass preserve jar filled with large stalks of rhubarb, buttercups and grass blades, which caused much merriment as the guests assembled. —The old saying that lightning never strikes in the same place was disproved on last Friday afternoon, when for the second time the steeple of the First Universalist church was struck and seriously damaged by a bolt during a short thunder storm. Last summer the steeple was struck and badly damaged and the adjusting it back into proper shape was a difficult task. This time the bolt hit the steeple well up in the peak, running down the interior, splintering the wood all the way along and coming out just above the point where it made exit the last time. At the time of the crash an electric car was passing and the bolt put the car out of commission and badly frightened the passengers. The steeple can be repaired, according to the carpenter who looked it over, and put back into perpendicular again. During this storm a bolt of lightning struck the chimney of the Benjamin Russell house on Medford street, shattered the chimney and came out in the dining room, spreading soot all about the room. The storm was of short duration but severe while it lasted.
